

THE SURREY MIRROR
REIGATE, SURREY, ENGLAND
12 MARCH 1887
(page 5)

REDHILL

Death Of Mr. Crowley.—A large number of the residents in Redhill and its neighbourhood, particularly those engaged in Christian work, will be grieved to hear that Mr. Edward Crowley "fell asleep" last week, after a severe attack of hæmorrhage. His remains rest at Southampton, where they were interred on Thursday, in the presence of many sorrowing friends.