

Literary Guide and Rationalist Review
London, England
1 June 1910
(page 96)

Occultism Rampant

Why The Equinox is published and who reads it are mysteries to us. The present number contains two fine vivid poems by Mr. Victor Neuburg, but the bulk of the contents will strike the uninitiated as weird and clotted nonsense. Certain R. P. A. publications are noticed, and the editor prints an apology for "Honest Reviews." These are probably honest; they are certainly valueless, and the apology was needed.