

JUSTICE
LONDON, ENGLAND
14 OCTOBER 1915
(page 5)

FROM VARIOUS SOURCES.

"So even the allies have conspired in stupid hate to endow the Kaiser with all the qualities of a demi-god. . . . Where the fight is thickest, there is the emperor, pale and stern, like Christ as he arose from Gethsemane and walked forth to meet Fate, and to find triumph and immortal glory."—Aleister Crowley.

Well, the Kaiser has some quaint scoundrels to eulogise him, but this is surely the limit.