

THE LITERARY REVIEW
14 JULY 1923

THE LITERARY LOBBY

Aleister Crowley's "The Diary of a Drug Fiend" we have found one of the most utterly lurid narratives we have read for some time, but as for its challenging comparison with De Quincey—that would naturally be said—well, there simply is no comparison as to style!